

Trade is a topic that is very important. The way and how we get supplies from another country to us is important. We want the cheapest but safest and fastest way to get our goods to the people. We think trading would be better if we had more manufacturing jobs in the United States. If we had more of our own products, we could sell more product, which we get more money. Having more manufacturing companies will also help create more jobs for the economy. Trading is just as important for the Faces and we want to make it better.

An important thing that we will do to make trading better today includes moving more manufacturing jobs to the U.S. This will allow us to have more products to sell which would help us trade things to foreign countries which will increase revenue. We will be able to make more products that we can sell and get products that we need and don't have. It would improve the process that we would go through when trading products with other countries. For example, if we are trying to trade something with another country and they ask you for something you don't have then you can try manufacturing the product and you will be able to trade with the country.

Another way to improve trade is by creating income from other countries. This can be helped by creating more income from other countries, which would improve the salary. It can also be improved by each country being able to have the products it holds and be able to trade to other countries for things that they need. Revenue is important to any country because it improves the way of life and it can improve the population of the country. It can improve the population and the way of life in the country because it can allow you to upgrade the things the country has and will make the country look better than other countries which can improve the population in the country.

One more way we will improve trade is by cutting down on foreign cost. If you are trying to trade with someone from a foreign country it may be hard. We could give each country more money so they may be able to trade. We could also try to decrease the amount of money for cost because it would improve trading from that country to you and we would be able to get the product they are trading to the country easily. If we do this we would be able to get the product from that country and that would be a successful trade but if we don't decrease the cost of trade than it may not be a successful trade.
